Notifications +

Important Notifications, Blasts, or Broadcasts are a great way to send information to all of your customers or patients or even a sub-section of them. It's a simple and easy way to tell them about such things as a planned or unplanned office closure, a new address or relocation, or a new pre-visit procedure or instruction. These notices can be communicated in just a few minutes with our system in voice, text, or email formats.

- Post-op or visit instructions
- Pre-visit office procedure
- Change of office location
- New treatment or requirement

Voice

Phone calls are clear and concise and can allow for touch response.

Text

Texting is fast and efficient and also allows for easy 2-way communication.

Email

Email delivers important information right from your office email address.
